

Developer Mohamed Hadid lists Le Palais at $58 million

The 48,000-square-foot Le Palais sits on 1.09 acres near the Beverly Hills Hotel. The French chateau-style residence has a limestone exterior and contemporary interiors.

  Comments  Email  Share 73  Tweet 57  Like 16  +1 3

A swimming pool sits at the back of the newly built mansion. (Jeff Elson)

Pierce Brosnan puts Malibu home up for lease at $250,000 a month

Actor Michael C. Hall lists Hollywood Hills home at $1.995 million

'Hunger Games' star Josh Hutcherson buys in Hollywood Hills West

Hot Property Archives

By Lauren Beale, Los Angeles Times

July 3, 2012 | 1:26 p.m.

International developer Mohamed Hadid is putting a newly built estate in Beverly Hills on the market this month at $58 million.

The 48,000-square-foot Le Palais sits on 1.09 acres near the Beverly Hills Hotel. The French chateau-style residence has a limestone exterior and contemporary interiors. Three floors include seven bedrooms and 11 bathrooms. Three additional bathrooms are in the outdoor areas.

Over 30 years, Hadid has developed Ritz-Carlton Hotels in Washington, New York and Houston, commercial projects and luxury homes in Aspen and Beverly Hills. He has appeared on "The Real Housewives of Beverly Hills."

Joyce Rey and Stacy Gottula of Coldwell Banker are the listing agents.

lauren.beale@latimes.com